

The Institute of Molecular Pathogenesis (IMP) at the Jena site of the FLI invites applications for a full-time position at senior scientist level, corresponding to

Scientific Councilor (pay grade A 13 BBesO)
Wissenschaftliche Rätin/ Wissenschaftlicher Rat (Besoldungsgruppe A 13 BBesO), to conduct research on the molecular pathogenesis of members of the Mycobacterium tuberculosis complex in livestock and wildlife ungulates.

Further details of this position, including qualification requirements, are described in Job Announcement 04/15 posted on our website: www.fli.bund.de.

Applicants should submit an application written in German or English including a description of research interests and the motivation to apply, official transcripts, a detailed CV highlighting education, relevant experience, qualifications, grant and contract activities and publications to Fachbereich Personal, Postfach 1318, 17466 Greifswald-Insel Riems. Electronic applications may be submitted as a single PDF document to 04.15RI@fli.bund.de marked with reference number 'Stelle 04/15'. Applications must be received by the closing date of March 02, 2015.